JUST ADDED:

Gov. Michelle Lujan Grisham

New Mexico's new governor, who has prioritized climate solutions and restoring protections for our precious resources, will give opening remarks.

Destiny Watford

Watford will speak about organizing and developing grassroots power to create change. She is a Goldman Environmental Prize winner who in high school led the successful fight to stop a trash-burning incinerator in her community.

Laura Paskus

Paskus will speak about the environmental landscape in our state. She has been writing about New Mexico's natural resources and communities since 2002 at the High Country News, KUNM-FM, New Mexico Political Report, and many others.
